

CAMDEN NEWS NOTES

** Forty "cops" have been appointed by the student governing body at the High School to see that proper decorum is preserved by the several hundred students.

** At the special musical program rendered last night at the First Presbyterian Church, Miss Josephine Staven sang a contralto solo, "Saviour, Breathe an Evening Blessing."

** At the Broadway M. E. Church last night Rev. E. J. Kulp preached the first of a series of sermons on "Reading and Living." His topic was "Build the Better Bricks Bush—Christian Heroism in Common Life."

** Rev. Homer J. Vosburgh, at the North Baptist Church yesterday preached a special sermon to school children on "The Value of Education."

** Many persons yesterday enjoyed the home camp-meeting services held at the Tabernacle M. E. Church, Miss Mehlin, the singer and composer, being present.

** Rev. George H. Humason of Moorestown, and a former pastor of the Centenary M. E. Church, addressed large congregations at the Union M. E. Church yesterday.

** Following out the instruction of Mayor Ellis, the police early yesterday morning raided an alleged speakeasy on Cherry street. Captain Stanley and a squad of officers surprised Daniel Murton, who was arrested as the principal. Several others were held as witnesses for a hearing before Recorder Stackhouse today.