

CAMDEN AT A GLANCE

Dr. William A. Pearson, dean of Hahnemann Hospital, has accepted an invitation from the graduating class of that institution to inspect the new building of the West Jersey Homeopathic Hospital.

As a result of a fall down a manhole at the New York Shipbuilding plant yesterday, David Proctor, aged 41 years, of 539 Lester terrace, dislocated his right shoulder. He was taken to Cooper Hospital.

With a capital of $100,000, the Islesworth Hotel Company was incorporated yesterday, the incorporators being George H. B. Martin, John A. MacPeak and L. C. Clow.

After being chased several squares, Harry Fredericks, aged 21 years, of 205 Washington street, was arrested early yesterday by Policemen Steelman and Stanton. The fugitive had two loaves of bread beneath his coat, which he asserted he had found. Recorder Stackhouse refused to believe him and sentenced him to a month in jail.

Suit was begun yesterday by Lawyers French and French in behalf of Edward W. Hunt, of Stratford, N. J., against the Atlantic City Railroad Company to recover $15,000 damages. Hunt asks this sum for injuries received when a train struck a team he was driving over the Rulon crossing at Magnolia. He was in Cooper Hospital for several weeks.
