

JOTTINGS THROUGH JERSEY

* The Flemington Board of Trade elected the following officers at their annual meeting yesterday. President, John B. Case; vice president, Dr. William W. Hawke, treasurer, Albert H. Kitzhouse; secretary, James E. Farmer.

* Burglars entered the mill of George C. Higgins & Son, at Three Bridges. The safe was broken open, but the cash had been removed and the thieves secured nothing.

* At the next meeting of Gloucester City Council James E. Murphy, who keeps a saloon at King street and Broadway, will ask that his license be transferred to Alfred L. Shank. Edward Penn will ask that his license be transferred to Jacob Roden.

* Cloud Lodge of Masons yesterday attended the funeral and conducted the services over the body of Lemuel Dutton at Gloucester City. Interment was made in Cedar Grove Cemetery.

* About $50,000 worth of operations have been given to Woodbury contractors for houses in that city, work to begin at once.

* There are four vacancies in Company "I," at Woodbury. Recruits are wanted in time to get ready for the encampment at Gettysburg.

* Houses are in demand at Mantua. One man said twenty-five homes could be rented at once if they were at hand.

* The Billingsport Fire Association will hold its annual plank and supper on April 23.

* Mayor W. J. Adams, of Paulsboro, has designated April 1 as "cleaning up day," and the affair will not be any joke.

* Constable William Dopeon has been instructed to collect the balance of 1908 taxes, and there is another scare among delinquents.

* The Odd Fellows, of Glassboro, held a "ladies' night" in their lodge room last evening.

* The spring institute of the Gloucester County's Woman's Christian Temperance Union will be held in Grange Hall, Mickleton, tomorrow.

* The apple orchard of the Herr brothers, near Glassboro, of nearly 300 acres is a sight worth seeing.

* There is a great scarcity of farm help around Mallica Hill. Many colored hands from the South, who have been coming North every spring have remained home this year because truckers in that section have increased wages.

* A new Episcopal Church is to be erected at Wenonah this spring, and with the number of new homes contracted for building operations will be extensive there.

* A lodge of Red Men is talked of at National Park.

* Many shad are just now being caught in the Maurice River.

* The annual Easter ball of the Millville High School will take place this evening.

* Those interested in the State Home for Women at Vineland are pleased over the act of the Legislature in appropriating $50,000 for an addition to the buildings and additional money to add ten more acres to the grounds.

* George Rolles, a prominent Vineland farmer, surprised his friends by announcing his marriage to Miss Alice Donnell, of Philadelphia.

* As a result of picking a corn, Isaac Harris, 76 years old, a Williamstown farmer, died last night in the Cooper Hospital, Camden.

* It has developed that Patrolman Casper Hart, who was thrown from the patrol wagon last Saturday night in Camden, has a fractured skull and a punctured lung. His condition is critical.

* Martin MacGrath, 13 years old, of 1218 Mt. Ephraim avenue, Camden, had a leg badly torn by a stray dog yesterday.

* City Electrician Kelly yesterday began the work of placing handsome electrolliers at the entrance of the Camden City Hall.

* South Jersey farmers are finding trouble in securing help.

* Williamstown Grange now has a membership of over two hundred.